

Karolina

words & music: Tobias Panwitz

Karolina, what's the story
Because I'm getting used to you
And I just don't have a clue what's going on now
I saw you dancing to a greek song
Moving everything you've got
And I like the way that you turn into a wave now

Karolina if you knew
Everything I like about you
Like your frown and your fake blond hair
And your fist moving through the air
Karolina tell me dear
What is it that you're doing here
Like a stone caught in the surf
You keep moving back and forth

Like moonlight on the waves
We're dancing through the night
Seeking hold in constant change
We're holding on tight now
